Equine Guided EDUCATION

We pair people with horses in an experiential, sensate learning environment, promoting connection within the self, nature, and community. Together with your equine guide, experience self development, exploration and transformation. EGE includes the study of energy and leadership through both passive and active exercises. By providing a novel setting and a cooperative environment, this allows participants greater success to create breakthroughs into new territory.

EGE is a Proven, Profound Experience!

Benefits from experiencing EGE are many, in terms of learning, clarity, relaxation, healing, team development, a shift in multiple levels of awareness, improved relationships / communication, reconnection to nature and much more.

Who will benefit from Equine Guided Education?

Everyone from families, youth, educators, entrepreneurs, veterans, medical practitioners, support groups and senior citizens. The only thing you need to enjoy EGE is an open mind, allow yourself to be curious. EGE is also an ideal opportunity to introduce or re-introduce yourself to horses!

Wild Soul is the home of Equine Guided Education.

We strive for the reconnection to one's instinctual nature from the part of us that we are connecting to and behaving from – our "Wild Soul".

The Equine Guided Education Association explains their transformative and profound work as follows: "The Equine is a horse representing the ancient archetypes of strength, courage, dignity, power, honor, beauty, endurance, resilience. The Guided is the magical ability of horses to take us into unknown or unexplored territory; a place where we can heal the past, re-imagine our future, and connect to our life purpose and share our natural wisdom. The Education is the educational, coaching, and therapeutic models that encourage effective relationship, communication, coordination, and social interaction skills for individuals and/or groups."

I am a professional therapist, life coach, or counselor; why would this work benefit my clients? There may be a need of reconnecting to nature in the desire to move forward in a clients' life and/or work. This is a therapy and self-development opportunity existing outside of the traditional clinical setting of: four walls, familiar furniture, agendas and scheduling. By providing a novel setting and a cooperative environment participants are presented with a unique opportunity to experience and process. This allows for the potential to create breakthroughs to new territory.

As a professional can I attend the session with my client?

We encourage practitioners to join, in support or observe the session, at no charge.

How much does a session cost? EGE can be experienced in hourly sessions or one/multi-day workshops. Sessions range from $25 - $250.

Located on 9.5 acres in the Upper Squamish Valley, approximately 30 minutes from downtown Squamish.

While the facility is not located near public transport, we believe the journey into the wilderness to be part of the process. If transportation is required, we are able to pickup/drop-off for a minor additional fee.
